Themes from Meeting #1 (1 of 2)

- The current health care system, including health professions education, wasn't designed to meet today's challenges, and is considered by some to be broken.
  - The systems we have were designed to get the outcomes we're getting, where Minnesota is a leader in many respects, but also has some of the worst racial disparities in the Nation.
- This is an important moment in time to envision the system of the future, one that will ensure equitable access and outcomes for all Minnesotans – and how the University of Minnesota can help achieve that future vision.
  - There is currently an undefined gap in the financial support necessary for academic health.

Themes from Meeting #1 (2 of 2)

- The Task Force must consider possible options for meeting both the short-term and long-term needs of the state for health professions education, and how these decisions will impact our ability to achieve a new vision for health care, health equity, and access.
  - It must be clear what the value proposition is, should the state invest additional public funding in the University's programs, as well as how – and to what – the University would be held accountable.
- While a broader vision for ensuring equitable health access and outcomes is needed, the Task Force has limited time to generate recommendations for the Governor and Legislature to potentially take-up in the next legislative session.
  - The Task Force's work will likely be just the first phase of an ongoing effort toward a long-term vision.

Principles from Meeting #1 (1 of 2)

Recommendations for academic health education must:

- Be centered around producing better, more equitable health outcomes/ population health, not just more or better health care.
- Be forward looking. How do we educate for the way the system will look in 10-20 years, not right now?
- Keep primary care, dental care, mental health as the foundational elements, but recognize that we can't stop there.
- Be grounded in an understanding of how and by whom health professions education (undergrad and grad) is funded and where the gaps are, and then consider how/by whom those gaps could be filled.

Principles from Meeting #1 (2 of 2)

Recommendations for academic health education must:

- Connect to the big picture of where we're going vs. just a fragmented set of proposals that don't build towards that goal. What does the holistic solution look like?
- Have a clear way to measure progress or success.
- Differentiate between overall UM goals and specific public interest/public funding.
- Be durable and financially sustainable.

Discussion: Key Themes/Principles

Questions:

- Do these themes and principles reflect the core of last week's discussion?
- Will these principles help us move forward in our work?
- What's missing? Do these tie back to the Executive Order?

Workforce presentation

Discussion: Health Care Workforce Trends

- What is coming to mind for you about what goals or expectations we might set, as it relates to the health care workforce?
- What are the barriers to achieving these goals?
