Platinum Sponsor

Description: Stratis Health is a non-profit independent quality improvement organization that collaborates with providers and consumers to improve health care. The organization, founded in 1971, has worked at improving the state's health care quality for more than 30 years. Under a federal contract, Stratis Health serves as Minnesota's Medicare Quality Improvement Organization (QIO). The organization is also involved in other statewide projects funded through state government contracts, foundation and corporate grants, and health system projects.

Stratis Health helps advance e-health in Minnesota through its participation in the national Doctors Office Quality – Information Technology Program and in the areas of implementing personal health record systems and participation in a regional health information exchange project. The goal of health information exchange is to enable standardized information sharing that is accurate and secure to improve health care quality, assure the safest health care possible, manage the cost of health care delivery, and make health care more efficient.

Company: Intel

Contact: Tom Halter

Email: tom.halter@intel.com

Web: www.Intel.com

Silver Sponsor

Description: Intel's commitment to healthcare started in 1999 with the formation of the Proactive Health Research project, a multi-disciplinary team actively researching people's healthcare needs and integrated technology solutions. This project evolved into Intel's Health Research and Innovation Lab, an integrated team of social scientists, designers and systems engineers.

Today, the Intel Digital Health Group is focused on three areas: 1) Healthcare Information Technology, 2) Personal Health Platforms and 3) Research and Standards. Our first product, the mobile clinical assistant is on display today. This unique product was developed with feedback from clinicians to help busy medical staff in performing a vast array of important tasks.

Our mission is to enable individuals, their families, and clinicians to connect to the right information at the right time so they can make better and more informed healthcare decisions.
