Teleconference: Collaboration Math – Enhancing Cross-Sector Partnerships for Preventing Violence Against Women, March 11, 2008

Tuesday, March 11, 2008

01:00 PM - 02:30 PM Central ST

Preventing violence against women requires comprehensive approaches. Often, the best way to ensure a comprehensive strategy is to build a diverse coalition. This web conference will highlight Collaboration Math, a tool to develop effective collaborations.

Presenters: Larry Cohen and Elizabeth Waiters, Prevention Institute www.preventioninstitute.org

Host: David Lee, Prevention Connection www.preventconnect.org

Registration: www.preventconnect.org

Cost: Free

What is a web conference?

A web conference is an opportunity to attend an online workshop. In our web conferences, you will watch a presentation on your computer screen while you listen to the presenters through your telephone or through our real-time captioning service (the text will also appear on your computer screen). Our web conferences feature opportunities to participate in an online question and answer session and live text chat between participants. If you are unable to join us on your computer, you can download the presentations slides and listen to the presentation on your telephone.

7. Workshops: Just because it's not wrong doesn't make it right...Teaching kids to think and act ethically, April 29, 2008

In a world where children are often given the message that the end justify the means; where harmful even violent behavior goes unnoticed; where children's ethical education can come from a t-shirt slogan, an internet site or the evening news, Just because it's not wrong doesn't make it right is an essential tool for parents and professionals who work with children and their families.

The Anoka County Child Abuse Prevention Council, an action team of the Alliance for a Violence-free Anoka County, and Connexus Energy announce that Barbara Coloroso, nationally recognized author and speaker, will be presenting at both a professional and community event on Tuesday, April 29. Ms. Coloroso, who wrote, "The Bully, The Bullied and the Bystander," will be addressing her remarks based on her new book, "Just because it's not wrong doesn't make it right...Teaching kids to think and act ethically."

The workshop for professionals will be held from 12:30 p.m. – 4:30 p.m. at the Lord of Life Church, 14501 Nowthen Blvd., NW, Ramsey, MN. Cost $24. For more information and/or to register, contact Donna McDonald at 763-422-7047 or donna.mcdonald@co.anoka.mn.us

The workshop for parents will be held from 7:00 p.m. – 9:00 p.m. at the Fred More Middle School Center for the Arts, 1523 5th Avenue, S., Anoka, MN. To pre-register for this workshop call 763-433-4145.

8. New data and resources on intimate partner violence and sexual violence

Intimate partner violence (IPV) is a significant public health problem in the United States. Data collected from over 70,000 respondents in 2005 found that approximately 1 in 4 women and 1 in 7 men reported some form of lifetime IPV victimization. New research from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) finds that men and women reporting IPV are significantly more likely to experience a number of chronic health conditions (www.cdc.gov/mmwr/preview/mmwrhtml/mm5705a1.htm).

To help healthcare practitioners better identify and treat victims, CDC recently developed Intimate Partner Violence and Sexual Violence Victimization Assessment Instruments for Use in Healthcare Settings. This compilation provides practitioners and clinicians with an inventory of existing assessment tools for determining intimate partner violence and/or sexual violence victimization. It also helps inform decisions about which instruments are most appropriate for use with a given population. This document will aid in the selection of assessment instruments to identify victims requiring additional services. It can also help practitioners make appropriate referrals for both victims and perpetrators.

An electronic copy of this document is available at www.cdc.gov/ncipc/dvp/IPV/ipv-SViolence.htm. Hard copies may be ordered on-line at www.cdc.gov/pubs/ncipc.aspx. Please direct questions about this publication to cdcinfo@cdc.gov.

9. Article: "Think you know how predators use Web? Study disputes myths"

Troubled adolescents most at risk, researchers find, and few offenders pose as fellow teens

BY FRANK GREVE

McClatchy Newspapers

Article Last Updated: 02/24/2008 11:30:35 PM CST

WASHINGTON - A lot of parental worries about Internet sex predators are unjustified, according to research by a leading center that studies crimes against children.

"There's been some overreaction to the new technology, especially when it comes to the danger that strangers represent," said Janis Wolak, a sociologist at the Crimes Against Children Research Center at the University of New Hampshire in Durham.

"Actually, Internet-related sex crimes are a pretty small proportion of sex crimes that adolescents suffer," Wolak added, based on three nationwide surveys the center conducted. Link to http://www.twincities.com/nation/ci_8355109 to continue reading this article...

Our last SVPN meeting (topic: Sexually Exploited Youth and the Connection to Homelessness) was held at the Blaine Human Services Center in Blaine, MN (special thanks to Donna McDonald of Anoka County Public Health for co-hosting our February program!!).

Thanks very much to our wonderful panelists...

Ann Gaasch, Program Director, The Bridge for Runaway Youth, Inc.

(a.gaasch@bridgeforyouth.org www.bridgeforyouth.org)

Jay Wagner, Street Outreach Worker, Streetworks

Deena McKinney, Program Supervisor of Homeless Youth Programs

...who gave such an outstanding presentation on the major reasons for youth homelessness, the connection to sexual violence, and ideas and strategies for prevention.

Thanks also to Lindsay Gillingsrud, MNCASA Prevention Coordinator, for her Prevention Overview (link to: <http://www.preventioninstitute.org/tools.html> for more information on the Spectrum of Prevention).

Resource listing on homelessness and sexually exploited youth (handout from SVPN meeting):

* The Bridge provides immediate shelter and safety for youth in crisis, with caring and experienced counselors to help them find solutions to the difficulties they face. The Bridge works with both parents and youth, helping to resolve family conflicts and rediscover their common ground. The Bridge helps young people reconnect with family, school, and community, strengthening families and helping prevent youth homelessness. <http://www.bridgeforyouth.org/>

- * Streetworks – fosters collaboration of youth, communities and youth-serving agencies that coordinates street-based outreach and assures access to a broad range of resources and opportunities for homeless youth and youth at risk of becoming homeless.

- * Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender youth - An epidemic of homelessness: from the national Gay and Lesbian Task Force in collaboration with the National Coalition for the Homeless. Of the estimated 1.6 million homeless American youth, up to 42 percent identify as lesbian or gay, and a disproportionate number identify as bisexual or transgender. Why do LGBT youth become homeless? In one study, 26 percent of gay teens who came out to their parents/guardians were told they must leave home. LGBT youth also leave home due to physical, sexual and emotional abuse. LGBT youth report they are threatened, belittled and abused at shelters by staff as well as other residents. <http://www.thetaskforce.org/downloads/reports/reports/HomelessYouth.pdf> Executive Summary: http://www.thetaskforce.org/downloads/reports/reports/HomelessYouth_ExecutiveSummary.pdf

- * Wilder Research: Homeless youth in Minnesota 2003 – Statewide survey of people without permanent shelter. On any given night, an estimated 500 to 600 youth are homeless on their own - not with their parents - in Minnesota. Seven out of 10 have spent time in some type of placement away from their family, primarily foster care but also group homes and other institutions. This report details Wilder's survey of 129 homeless youth under age 18 and more than 300 homeless young adults (age 18 to 20) on Oct. 23, 2003.
