Topic:

Promoting Health and Healing: Addressing the Mental Health Impacts of Sexual Assault from an Advocacy Perspective

Sexual assault and abuse can have serious mental health consequences for women and children. Understanding the range of potential mental health needs of survivors and how to address them within an empowerment-based framework is an important part of providing services for survivors that enhance their safety and wellbeing. This presentation will provide an overview of current research on mental health, violence, and abuse and will offer steps that advocates and other professionals can take within their agencies and organizations to address mental health issues in sensitive, appropriate, and empowering ways.

Presenter:

Phyllis Brashler, Ph.D.

Minnesota Department of Health Suicide Prevention Coordinator

2. The Family Project Training, November 6, 2009

Family and Children's Service is offering its second training opportunity for parents, community activists, school staff, faith-based organizations, and social service providers.

The training date is:

Friday, November 6, 2009 from 9:00 am - 3:00 pm

Family & Children's Service, Community Room

4123 East Lake Street, Minneapolis, MN 55406

The Family Project seeks to increase the health, safety, and success of children and their families by creating space for families to come together and build networks of support. The project serves families of color, immigrant and low-income families, and families who share common characteristics, values and concerns in the Twin Cities metro area. We are recognized as a unique, best-practice model for engaging parents in schools and low-income communities, and helping systems become more responsive to all families.

The Family Project is a family-centered community organizing model, which is comprised of four core components: 1) Relationship Building, 2) Building strengths and capacities with parents, 3) Collaborations and partnerships, and 4) Goal setting. We offer training and coaching in this model in order to position parents to strengthen their individual parenting capacities, and become equal partners with the institutions that affect their families.

Come and learn strategies to engage all families in coming together to increase the health, safety, and success of their children.

The training costs $60 per participant – (free for parents!)

4. Film: Straightlaced, November 16, 2009

Film: Straightlaced, November 16, 2009

Don't miss the regional premiere of this powerful new documentary STRAIGHTLACED. Candid interviews with more than 50 teens from diverse backgrounds give a fearless look at a highly charged subject. STRAIGHTLACED unearths how popular pressures around gender and sexuality are confining American teens. Their stories reflect a diversity of experiences, demonstrating how gender role expectations and homophobia are interwoven, and illustrating the different ways that these expectations connect with culture, race and class.

From girls confronting media messages about culture and body image to boys who are sexually active just to prove they aren't gay, this fascinating array of students opens up with brave, intimate honesty about the toll that deeply held stereotypes and rigid gender policing have on all our lives.

5. Call for Presentations: 23rd Annual Conference on Crime Victims

Call for Presentations: 23rd Annual Conference on Crime Victims

Have you or your organization conducted interesting research lately? Developed an innovative program? Improved your program management? Established public policy initiatives, policies or procedures? Created new collaborations or reached out to expand your service capacity? Have “lessons learned” to share? If so, submit a presentation proposal!

Submissions are due Friday, November 20, 2009

The Minnesota Department of Public Safety, Office of Justice Programs
23rd Annual Conference on Crime Victims will be held on May 26- 28, 2010

What is the Annual Conference on Crime Victims?

The goal of the Annual Conference on Crime Victims is to provide education and training on issues related to crime and victimization. This multi-disciplinary event brings professionals together to improve skills, share information, network, and learn how to help their communities recover from crime.

We anticipate approximately 400 participants representing disciplines such as victims/survivors of crime, victim service providers, victim advocates, law enforcement personnel, prosecutors, judges, court personnel, probation/corrections personnel, medical/health care practitioners, social service professionals, education professionals, community leaders and others interested in crime victim issues.

For proposal forms contact Alicia Nichols, Conference Director, 651.201.7318,

New Publication: Strengthening Democracy, Increasing Opportunities: Impacts of Advocacy, Organizing and Civic Engagement in Minnesota.

The National Committee for Responsive Philanthropy partnered with the Minnesota Council on Foundations and the Minnesota Council of Nonprofits to illustrate what foundations, nonprofits and communities can do together to bring about real meaningful change to the world.

The report documents how 15 Minnesota nonprofits and their allies leveraged foundation grants to secure nearly $138 of benefit for every dollar spent for Minnesota's citizens. (Note: MOAPPP's [MN Organization on Adolescent Pregnancy, Prevention and Parenting] policy work is featured in this publication.)

7. Article: A Novel, Intensive Home-Visiting Intervention for Runaway, Sexually Exploited Girls

A Novel, Intensive Home-Visiting Intervention for Runaway, Sexually Exploited Girls
Laurel D. Edinburgh, MSN, RN, PNP, is a Nurse Clinician, Midwest Children's Resource Center, Children's Hospitals and Clinics of Minnesota, St. Paul, MN; and Elizabeth M. Saewyc, PhD, RN, PHN, is a CIHR/PHAC Chair in Applied Public Health and Associate Professor, University of British Columbia School of Nursing, Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

Few studies have examined interventions that help adolescents who run away. This study both describes a home-visiting intervention program for young, sexually assaulted runaways (10–14 years old) and provides preliminary outcomes from the first 20 female participants.

8. Violence Against Women as a Human Rights Violation

Violence Against Women as a Human Rights Violation

October 26, 2009, From CALCASA (California Coalition Against Sexual Assault)

When violence against women is described in international work it is seen as a human rights issue. When violence against women is described in the United States it is typically framed as a “personal issue” to be addressed as a criminal matter.
