1. 2004 Walk for Children, Saturday, September 11, 2004, St. Paul

In 2002, nearly 27,000 children and youth were reported to be victims of child abuse or neglect in Minnesota, according to Minnesota's Department of Human Services. Please take part in the 2004 Walk for Children on Saturday, September 11, 2004, at Como Lake in St. Paul.

Beginning and ending at Como Park's Lakeside Pavilion, the Walk for Children raises funds to continue Prevent Child Abuse Minnesota's mission to prevent child abuse and neglect. Registration and entertainment, including the Walker West Little Big Band, Snoopy and Sharky from the Mall of America, TC of the Minnesota Twins, and much more, begins at 9 a.m. The Walk for Children, covering 1.6 miles around Lake Como, starts promptly at 10:00 a.m. Festivities will conclude by noon.

Survivors and others interested in participating in the Walk with the Survivors Network Minnesota team may contact Scott or Sarah at (651) 772-1737. For general information about the Walk for Children or to organize a team of your own, contact Prevent Child Abuse Minnesota (PCAMN) at (651) 523-0099, (800) 621-6322 (from Greater Minnesota) or via email.

6. New research on MN teens links sexual abuse history to increased pregnancy risk

A new study, documented in Perspectives on Sexual and Reproductive Health, 2004, 36(3):98-105, concluded "teenage pregnancy risk is strongly linked to sexual abuse, especially for males and those who have experienced both incest and nonfamilial abuse. To further reduce the U.S. teenage pregnancy rate, the pregnancy prevention needs of these groups must be adequately addressed."
