3. National Institute on Media and the Family Responds to the Release of Grand Theft Auto: San Andreas

On October 26, another video game in the Grand Theft Auto series became available in stores. Grand Theft Auto: San Andreas is expected to sell more games than its predecessor, Grand Theft Auto: Vice City. Analysts predict the video game will sell between 13 and 15 million copies.

Grand Theft Auto: San Andreas is rated Mature by the Entertainment Software Rating Board (ESRB). It includes the following ESRB content descriptors:

- ▶ Blood and Gore
- ▶ Intense Violence Strong Violence
- ▶ Strong Language
- ▶ Strong Sexual Content
- ▶ Use of Drugs

With the highly-anticipated release of Grand Theft Auto: San Andreas and the start of this year's holiday shopping season, the National Institute on Media and the Family again calls upon parents and retailers to keep inappropriate video games away from children. Parents should use the ESRB ratings system and also limit video game playing time. Retailers should strictly enforce policies that prevent children and teens from buying M-rated games without parental permission.

The National Institute on Media and the Family has developed tips for parents and other caregivers to make sure their kids play the right video games for the right amount of time.
