4. The Crime of Stalking - Building on a Community Response to Enhance Victim Safety, May 1, 2007

Come to learn: information on the crime of stalking; a foundational understanding of the danger and lethality of stalking; the unique challenges faced when working with victims of stalking. With a better understanding of stalking, professionals can help create an atmosphere where progress can be made in improving the overall system's response to the crime of stalking. The ultimate goal is to keep victims safe and decrease the potential for violence and even death.

Date: May 1, 2007

Time: 1:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Location, Law Enforcement Center, Red Wing, MN

5. Broken Trusts, Broken Childhoods: View on-line

The Sexual Abuse Prevention Network in partnership with Twin Cities Public Television (TPT) has produced a moving documentary about childhood sexual abuse within the school system.

The program addresses a pervasive problem in American society. It is also about hope - hope for survivors, their families, and our children. Portions of the program are from a panel discussion held in Bloomington, Minnesota in December 2006 keynoted by national expert Charol Shakeshaft, Ph.D. of Hofstra University, interspersed with interviews of three survivors and the mother of a victim.

Copies of this program will soon be available on DVD. To obtain a copy, please call (651) 215-9913. To view the program on-line link to:

6. Cyberbullying Campaign

Bullying is a widespread problem for our nation's youth, and with the rapid rise in electronic communications, cyberbullying - using the internet or mobile devices to send to post harmful or cruel text or images - has become a serious issue. According to the National Crime Prevention Council, 43 percent of teens 13-17 years old say they have experienced cyberbullying in the past year. Furthermore, teen girls are the biggest perpetrators. Our study found that nine in ten teens who have experienced cyberbullying (92%) report that they know the person bullying them. Additionally, teens are twice as likely to talk to a friend about the incident rather than their parents or another adult. This initiative is designed to counteract cyberbullying through education, encouraging tweens and teens to play a role in ending the cyberbullying chain.

10. New Book: Honor Betrayed, Sexual Abuse in the U.S. Military

Honor Betrayed, Sexual Abuse in the U.S. Military, Dr. Mic Hunter (DrMicHunter@AOL.com). Over the years the media has continued to report on sexual abuse scandals in the military; whether at West Point, Tailhook, or the Air Force Academy the stories are the same - discrimination, harassment, even rape. Military and civilian leaders respond that the claims are exaggerated or merely the result of "a few bad apples." Although investigations are held and policies issued, little significant change to the culture of the military takes place. Dr. Hunter goes behind the headlines to examine the underlying factors that, not only contribute to, but actually encourage, sexual abuse in the military. Honor Betrayed examines how traditional military training leads to the creation of an environment hostile to men perceived to be homosexual and to all women. Honor Betrayed includes numerous first-person accounts of American servicewomen and men who were sexually abused by their comrades, including one woman's case that was heard before the U.S. Supreme Court. Dr. Hunter describes how wide spread sexual abuse contributed to the recent prisoner abuse scandal in Iraq. Honor Betrayed does more than identify the problem. Hunter provides specific actions the military can take to reduce the incidence of sexual abuse and thereby improve the mission readiness and effectiveness of the armed forces to face the challenges of the 21st century.
