by reaching adults at risk and those who care about them. Yvonne Cournoyer.

Stories about the sexual abuse of children are spread across the headlines and splashed over our TV screens. Usually, these stories focus on the worst of the worst - hard-core predators whose compulsion has gone unchecked, with horrifying consequences.

St. Paul Pioneer Press, 4-11-07. People affected by sexual abuse share their stories. OFFENDER: Alcohol, porn, jail, recovery.

It is not easy to say, 'I sexually abused a child' or 'I was sexually abused' or 'I love someone who sexually abused a child.' Several people whom Stop It Now! has worked with agreed to share their stories, with names withheld, in the hope that describing their experiences will help prevent abuse.
